Israel's Relationship with the Glory of God in Psalms 77 Based on the parallelism of these lines it is apparent that the glory of God are the created works of God's hands that David observed as he contemplated the majesty of the universe. Whether it is day or night, all the crafted elements of the heavens are evidences of the glory of God (i.e., the works of the divine creator). Just like the sun that shines on all and none can escape its heat (19:7), none can escape living under the ...

God showed the Israelites His kavod (glory) in tangible ways by raining down bread from heaven called manna, pouring out water from a rock, and giving Israel numerous victories in battle. We might see God's kavod today when we mysteriously receive a check with just the amount of money we need, see a supernatural healing, or when someone walks into our life exactly when we need help or comfort.

Godâ€™s Special Presence in Worship. From the point of the creation of humanity, God has progressively revealed himself, first through His communication with the patriarchs of the faith, including Abraham and his descendents, until His revelation was fulfilled in Jesus Christ. The Old Testament contains a record of much of Godâ€™s interaction with humanity through the nation of Israel as they were incubated as a nation in Egypt, escaped the Pharaohâ€™s despotic grip, and subsequently matured ...
